Re: Speech to the Ethics Section of the International Municipal Lawyers Association, Sunday, April 10, 2005

Workshop given to approximately 40 attorneys; Don McClintock and Wendy Honnor were in attendance. Carla explained the difference between ethics and justice and had the group do practical exercises. (identifying overts/things they wanted to change in their local governments.)

Dear Carla,

Thank you for taking the time to come and speak to IMLA's Ethics Section on Sunday April 10th during the IMLA 2005 Mid Year Seminar. As we discussed previously, and the officers of IMLA's Ethics Section were able to reiterate to you earlier this week, IMLA is very committed to addressing the needs of public lawyers and their public clients in the field of ethics and professional responsibility. We look forward to working closely with you and COGEL in this regard.

At this time the next opportunity for us to begin collaborating will be the IMLA 70th Annual Conference which will be held in Savannah, Georgia, September 25-28. I believe this would be an appropriate time for IMLA and COGEL to explore further programming opportunities that can broaden the reach of both our associations. In this regard, IMLA's Program Planning Committee will work closely with the Ethics Section and with you to develop a program that meets IMLA's high standards of excellence and furthers the objectives of IMLA and COGEL.

Beyond the Savannah Conference I believe there are opportunities for us to collaborate on producing reports, models, white papers, and other product that can serve our common interest.

IMLA looks forward to working with you and I appreciate your time and efforts to discuss these possibilities with us.

Carla,

Thanks for your continuing work on COGEL member recruitment. You are definitely our ambassador to the municipalities.

Re: IMLA (International Municipal Lawyers Assoc.)
I was asked to speak to this group on municipal ethics, which I did last weekend in Washington. It went very well and I passed out membership applications for Cogel, so perhaps we will pick up some new municipal members.
